The Computer Lab Project

Troy High School funds and TSO contributions work together to complete Phase One

Thanks to a collaboration between Troy High School and TSO, Phase One of the Computer Lab Project has been completed. Eighty workstations in Rooms 331 and 407 were replaced with significantly upgraded computers that include audio, video and podcasting capabilities.

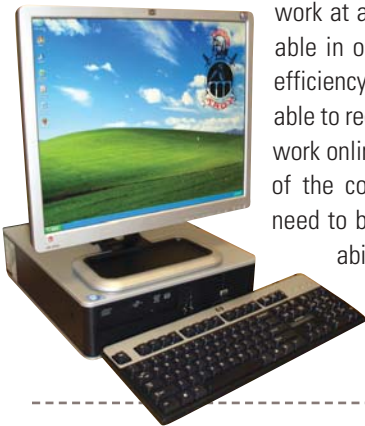

Computer Science and Business Department Leader Steve Grack says, "The computer science department greatly appreciates the investment by TSO and Troy High School in an upgrade that benefits the school as a whole as well as the Troy Tech Program. The computers will allow students to work significantly faster and allow teachers to offer a more relevant and challenging curriculum. Thank you to TSO."

Heather Lambert, IB Business Management and Life Science teacher continues the sentiment. "I want to thank the TSO for supporting the new computers in Room 407. Computers that work at a high level of reliability are invaluable in order for students to increase their efficiency during class time. We are also now able to reduce the use of paper as I can check work online or in the drop box drive. Because of the computers' heavy use, they usually need to be replaced every five years. TSO's ability to alleviate this financial burden is gratefully appreciated by all."

Students in Room 331 enjoy the upgraded speed and software capabilities which encourage creativity and enable them to complete assignments in a timely manner.
